Mama's Kitchen, celebrating its 20th anniversary this year, announced that it was the recipient of a $10,000 grant from ASTRO, the American Society for Therapeutic Radiology and Oncology.

ASTRO, a leading radiation oncology organization, partners with two cancer patient support organizations each year, and provides gifts of financial support through its Survivor Circle program. To date, ASTRO's Survivor Circle has raised nearly $170,000 for organizations like Mama's Kitchen that strive to better the lives of those suffering from cancer.

"ASTRO is very pleased to support the efforts of Mama's Kitchen in assisting cancer patients and their families through their journey," says Laura I. Thevenot, ASTRO chief executive officer.
